Derwent Markush Resource (DWPIIM) Database Enhancements

DWPIIM was launched on STNext[®] in 2018, and we continue to make enhancements to it to enhance its value for STNext users. DWPIIM covers chemical Markush structures from patents and is a critical resource for assessing the patentability of a substance or a class of substances (don't forget to also check MARPAT[®]!). The following enhancements have been recently implemented in DWPIIM to increase its value and improve the efficiency of your searching:

- 1) Alerts (SDIs) are now available. They can be run monthly, weekly or with every update (twice per week).
- 2) Subset structure searching (both SSS and CSS) is now available for Markush structure searches
- 3) Batch search run time has been increased from 30 minutes to 1 hour
- 4) A Break/Cancel option for structure searches is now operational

For more information about Derwent Markush Resource, check its Database Summary Sheet or its Reference Manual.

TAKE NOTE

PatentPak® Coverage Expands to Include 14 Additional Patent Authorities

PatentPak® is an integrated workflow solution designed to radically reduce time spent acquiring and searching through full-text patents to find vital chemistry insights. PatentPak now connects you to over 17 million searchable, full-text patents covered in CAplusSM.

The number of authorities PatentPak covers has increased from 32 to 46, with the addition of Argentina (AR), Bulgaria (BG), Czech Republic (CZ), Denmark (DK), Finland (FI), Hungary (HU), Israel (IL), Italy (IT), Malaysia (MY), Moldova (MD), Netherlands (NL), Philippines (PH), Poland (PL), South Africa (ZA).

Coverage for these new authorities is for basic patents, back to 2016. Organic chemistry patents are now complete for these authorities, and biological and agricultural patents are underway.
